"PADDLE YOUR OWN CANOE."

Up this world, and down this world,
And over this world, and through,
Though drifted about,
And tossed without,
Why, "paddle your own canoe."

What though the sky is heavy with clouds,
Or shining a field of blue,
If the bleak wind blows,
Or the sunshine glows,
Still, "paddle your own canoe."

What if breakers rise up ahead,
With dark waves rushing through,
More steadily try,
With steadfast eye,
To "paddle your own canoe."

If a hurricane rise in the midnight skies,
And the stars are lost to view,
Guide safely along,
With smile and song,
And "paddle your own canoe."

Up this world, and down this world,
Over this world, and through,
Though weary and worn,
Bareft, forlorn,
Still "paddle your own canoe."

Never give up when trials come—
Never grow sad and blue;
Never sit down
With a tear or frown,
But "paddle your own canoe."

There are daisies springing along the shores,
Blooming and sweet for you;
There are rose-hued dyes
In the autumn skies—
Then "paddle your own canoe."

The Richest Boy in America."

The papers are telling about a boy in New England now fourteen years of age, who is supposed to be the richest boy in the United States, because he has a great deal of money. To our mind the richest boy in America is the one who is good hearted, honest, intelligent, ambitious, willing to do right. He is the one who loves his mother, and always has a kind word for her; who loves his sister or sisters, and tries to help them, and regards them with true affection. He is the boy who does not call his father the "old man," but who loves him, speaks kindly to and of him, and tries to help him as the hairs of old age gather fast upon his brow.

The richest boy is the one who has pluck to fight his destiny and future. He is the one who has the manhood to do right and be honest, and is striving to be somebody; who is above doing a mean action—who would not tell a lie to screen himself or betray a friend. He is the boy who has a heart for others; whose young mind is full of noble thoughts for the future, and is determined to win a name by good deeds. This is the richest boy in America. Which one of our readers is it?

This boy we like; we would be glad to see; would like to take by the hand and tell him to go on earnestly, that success might crown his efforts. And if he is a poor boy, we should meet at the threshold, bid him enter, and give him good advice, well and kindly meant. The other rich boy, in New England, we don't care anything about, for there are fools and snobs enough to worship, flatter, and spoil him.—New York Paper.

HOME POLITENESS.—Should an acquaintance tread on your dress, your best, your very best, and by accident tear it, how profane you are with your "never minds—don't think of it —I don't think of it—I don't care at all." If a husband does it he gets a frown, if a child he is chastised.

Ah! these are little things, say you! They tell mightily on the heart, let us assure you, little as they are.

A gentleman stops at a friend's house, and finds it in confusion. "He don't see anything to apologize for—never think of such matters—everything is all right—cold supper, cold room, crying children—perfectly comfortable."

He goes home, his wife had been taking care of the sick ones, and worked her life almost out. "Don't see why things can't be kept in better order—there never was such cross children before." No apologies except away from home.

Why not be polite at home? Why not use freely the golden coin of courtesy? How sweet they sound, those little words, "thank you," or "you are very kind." Doubly, yes, trebly sweet from the lips we love, when heart-smiles make the eye sparkle with the clear light of affection.

Be polite to your children. Do you expect them to be mindful of your welfare, to grow glad of your approach, to bound away to your pleasure before your request is half spoken? Then, with all your dignity and authority mingle politeness. Give it a niche in your household temple. Only then will you have the true secret of sending out into the world really finished gentlemen and ladies.

Again we say unto all—be polite.

☞ A woman living in Milwaukee has a sailor husband whom she has not seen for nineteen years, but receives letters from him regularly. He is a hand on a Liverpool packet, making regular trips from New York and back. Every time that he sails from the former port, he writes his wife that upon his arrival in New York next time he will certainly go home. The ship arrives, but no husband. Soon comes the inevitable letter with the same intelligence. He did intend to come, but was paid off, got intoxicated, spent his money, and came to his senses not only penniless, but shipped on board the packet again, and goes to work with the idea of gaining means to return home, and the next trip is a repetition of the old story. Meanwhile the wife toils on, and lives in hope that some day the truant husband will come back.

Reminiscences of the White House.

The New York Ledger contains the following mournful yet tender reminiscences of the White House and its inmates during a few years past. They embody lessons which we may all profitably read:

The telegraph announced, a few days ago, that while Andrew Johnson, late President of the United States, was at Athens, Alabama, on his way to Pulaski, where he was to make a speech, he received intelligence of the death of his son, Col. Robert Johnson.

Andrew Johnson always exhibited the tenderest affection for his son, on whom he had bestowed an excellent education. He was a young man of superior abilities and remarkably pleasant manners. He had been a member of the Legislature of Tennessee, and the upward path to usefulness and distinction lay open and easy before him. Only one besetting sin forever blighted all his bright prospects; he had an uncontrollable thirst for strong drink. The last we heard of him previous to the news of his death, he was somewhere in an inebriate asylum.

The announcement of Col. Robert Johnson's decease carries us back to the White House in the first days of Andrew Johnson's Administration. Robert was then one of his father's private secretaries. Col. W. A. Browning was another. Browning was one of the handsomest men in the world—tall, muscular, finely formed, with an open, pleasing countenance, and a complexion as clear, and a skin as fine as Ireland or Nantucket gives to the fairest of women. He graduated at Yale College, and was a fine belles lettres scholar, and a man of many accomplishments. He had been with Mr. Johnson in Tennessee for several years, and went with him to the White House. But his stay was of short duration. He received the appointment of Secretary of Legation to Mexico. He never left the country however. The same habit which has now carried off young Johnson did his fatal work with him more speedily. He was extremely popular, and the idol of women. Yet we have seen him turn from the loveliest of smiles, and from the gayest scenes of festivity, and quietly remark: "My heart is broken—I have no wish to live."

Mr. Browning was married when quite young to a beautiful girl, who lived but a short time after her marriage. He never seemed to recover, in any degree, from the shock of her death. On the contrary, the pain of the separation seemed constantly to deepen and grow more poignant in his heart. The last time we met him was in Washington, only a short period before his death. In the course of a brief conversation he said: "I have just parted with the most beautiful woman in America; but my heart is buried in my wife's grave, and I want to die." Soon afterward he shut himself up in a room, and deliberately drank whisky until it killed him.

At the beginning of the time of which we speak, another inmate of the White house was Preston King. How jolly he looked and felt—and how his hearty laugh shook his great, heavy sides! King, though a mild-mannered man, and a lawyer by education, had been an athlete and a fighter in his youthful days, and was always a bit of a dandy, weighing, we should say, upward of an eighth of a ton. He used to receive at the White House arrayed in white pants and vest, and wearing something like the old pump shoes, highly polished. As we have said, Mr. King felt very jolly now. He was the President's other self, and had things his own way. He considered that he had been snubbed and badly treated by the Seward men, in the election of Morgan to supersede him, when he had served only one term in the Senate; but now he was greater than Seward; for was he not almost as good as President, while Seward was only Secretary of State? Alas! that very elevation to power was the cause of Mr. King's awful and untimely death. His influence, his ascendancy, at the White House was felt to be altogther too great by the jealous and envious politicians with whose purposes it interfered. They cunningly contrived to banish him to honorable exile, by making him Collector of the Port of New York, an office for which he had neither taste nor adaptation. Its perplexing, complicated, and harassing duties—and, we have always thought the discovery of the trick practiced upon him—preyed upon his mind, until his reason tottered and yielded. With the cunning of a determined madman, he stole away from the friendly people who undertook to watch him, and having purchased a large bag of shot, he tied it securely to his neck, then took passage on a ferry-boat, and sprang from its deck into the North river. Several months afterward, his body rose to the surface, and floated ashore, where it was discovered and recognized; and it was taken to his home at Ogdensburg, and buried.

The good old man who was steward at the White House then, and whose face was familiar to so many—he too is dead. He was followed to his grave by sincere mourners; among whom were the President and his family.

When we recall all these, and we think of Old Abe, and of his darling little son Willie, who yielded up his young spirit in that house—and we see the great crowd surging in and out of the grand receptions of the new powers that be—we pause for a moment to wonder whether the living who are there to-day ever think of those who were there in all the power and pride of state so short a time ago, and who may now be flitting as unsubstantial shadows among them!

Progress of the Nation.

The approach of the Ninth National Census may well excite solicitude concerning the extent to which its results will be affected by the extraordinary causes that have distracted the country during one-half of the current decade. The effects of such a war as we have encountered, including the premature loss of nearly a million of men, may well be expected to affect the ratio of comparison with the enumerations of other decades, past and prospective. Yet, such is the steady effect of emigration and other recuperating causes, that the drawbacks, however mighty they seem in comparison with any former difficulties, will probably leave much fainter effects on the Census than many of us have at times anticipated.

It is not very wonderful that Americans should become believers in "Manifest Destiny," when thinking of the progress of their country during the brief period of our national existence. How can it be otherwise, when recollecting that the four-score years since the original rickety Confederacy of ill-jointed States was merged in a National Government under the present Constitution, have been signalized by increase of States from thirteen to thirty-seven, with territory enough to make out fifty noble commonwealths ere this century ends; with a population, forty millions now, that will probably be expanded to a round hundred millions before the year 1900; with possessions expanded from the original narrow strip along the Atlantic coast into a mighty empire, stretching three thousand miles across the continent to the Pacific Ocean, and upward from the Mexican Gulf to the Northern Lakes and the arctic regions of Alaska?

Nearly fifty thousand miles of railroad have brought all sections of the Union into quicker communion than existed between Boston and Washington when the present National Constitution was established—while more than a hundred and fifty thousand miles of telegraph enable widely separated States and people to interchange intelligence more rapidly than could have been done thirty years ago between the towns of a single county—the news from all parts of the nation now appearing as promptly in our daily papers as the "local items" from the different wards of the city.

The means thus effective in satisfying the wants and promoting the comforts of social and civil life are equally efficacious for national defence—the movements of armies across our vast regions being regulated and facilitated by the locomotive and the lightning—and all danger of invasion being averted by the fact that the telegraphs and the railroads enable us promptly to concentrate volunteers enough to overwhelm all the armies which the world could send against our National Union. What vistas of national greatness burst upon the mind when contemplating the future! By the usual rate of increase, the population of our country, estimated at forty-two millions in 1870, fifty-six millions in 1880, seventy-seven millions in 1890, and a hundred millions in 1900, will probably exceed three hundred millions in 1940—seventy years from the present time—a period that will be reached by many of the children now in our schools. And yet the National Union would not then contain, proportionately, more than half as much population as Massachusetts now possesses; since the whole Union, if peopled like that State in the ratio of acres, would contain over six hundred millions.—With the consciousness that we possess more than three and a half millions of square miles of land, or about twenty-two hundred millions of acres, or nearly an acre for every dollar of national debt; and with the probability that the lapse of twenty-five years will nearly treble the number of our present population, who can despair of the Republic, or of its means to repay, in reasonable time, every dollar of the debt incurred for preserving our National Union?

WHY PEOPLE GO TO CHURCH.—The motives which induce different people to go to church on Sunday, or any other day, are diverse, and in any particular case rather difficult to determine. In the words of a poetic correspondent, some go to spend an hour of idle time, some to hear a new organ, and some to criticise the preacher. Some go to show their bonnets, some to see their friends, some to flirt. Some go to gossip with their neighbors, and some for respite from their labors. Some go from an inward sense of duty, and some from an outward sense of beauty. Some go to church because they are afraid to do otherwise. Some go to sing, some to sleep, some to gaze, and some to weep. But of all this mixed and thronging crowd, joining in the responses loud, how many of them on Sabbath day go there to hear, to heed and pray?

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION.—A piece of mechanism for transferring railroad cars from one track to another without necessitating the running of the car several hundred feet back or forward, as the case may be, and without the use of switches, has been patented within the last few days. The practical advantages of it are a saving of depot room and of time, and railroad men say that it possesses some intrinsic merit. Propositions have been or will be made to the Union Pacific Railroad Company for its adoption.

A Remarkable Document.

A well known resident of this city is about issuing in tract form a most remarkable document. The idea is that a day shall be set apart by Christians of every denomination, when prayer shall be offered that at a certain day and hour the Lord shall set a sign in the heavens, whereby infidels may know that the Bible is the word of God. The tracts are to find their way all over the country, and will probably excite a considerable degree of public attention. They have not yet been issued, but the reporters of the Courier have been enabled to secure the manuscript of the document, and for the first time the matter is given to the reading public. The tract is as follows:

"And Elijah came unto all the people and said: How long halt ye between two opinions. If the Lord be God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him."

Again, we ask, who will be our Elijah? Who, among the thousands of God's professed ministers, will dare to stand forth and say to Infidelity:—Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther. Who will dare to throw himself into the stream and check the tide that is even now carrying thousands, aye, millions of the brightest and best of our fellow-beings down to eternal misery? Surely there must be some one who has sufficient faith in God's promises to ask for some sign whereby all shall know that He is the true God.—That a trial like that instituted by Elijah would convince the world to-day we do not for one moment believe.—But we do believe that if the clergy every where, of all denominations, were to pray to God that at a stated time (say on next Christmas eve) a sign might be set in the heavens above us, a sign intelligent to all, to continue forever, that God would grant the prayer we cannot doubt, for has He not said: "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." Wherefore, we have only to ask, and we shall receive. (Here is inserted the 18th chapter of 1st Kings, from the 21st to 39th verses.)

Now suppose that all Christian denominations were to instruct their churches to pray that a sign might be given as above—how swiftly the tidings would fly to the uttermost parts of the earth in this age of steam and electricity. Millions upon millions of human voices would join in petitioning the throne of grace.

Week after week rolls round; Christmas day draws near—a day dear to all believers—'tis the birthday of Christ! Day after day rolls on—'tis Christmas eve; slowly sinks the sun to rest. The stars peep forth one by one, and look down upon millions of upturned, silent, prayerful faces. Ah! what a solemn hour! yet what a beautiful sight; a world in prayer! Not a cloud can be seen, nothing but the vast blue expanse of heaven gemmed with myriads of wandering starry worlds—all is beautiful, silent, serene. The hour is at hand. Ah, what suspense—what a feeling of solemn awe steals o'er all.—Suddenly from the very zenith bursts forth a flood of golden light; soon the air is filled with angels shouting, "behold the hour has come, ye shall know that Christ is the Lord, serve ye Him; for He hath set his sign in the heavens." Behold, behold!" The sign appears. It is intelligible to all, and with one accord a feeling world shouts: "Glory! glory to God in the highest, this is Christ our Lord, we worship Him the only true God. Glory! Hallelujah!"

Where is our Elijah? Who is it that will show to the skeptical world that God's promises (in the written Word) are true? For hath He not said, "ask, and ye shall receive; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you?"—Newark, N. J., Evening Courier.

NEVER TRAVELED.—A story is told of an old lady who lived near Rochester, who had never seen or traveled on a railroad. Wanting to go on a visit to a small town a short distance from the city, she thought she would try one of the pesky things. She went to the ticket office, carrying her reticule on one arm and an old-fashioned rocking chair on the other. She bought her ticket, walked out on the platform, put down her rocking chair, sat down in it, took out her knitting, and went to work diligently. Steadily she rocked and worked, trains coming in or leaving as the car time came round.—The old lady made no attempt to get on the cars, but kept knitting.

The day drew to a close, and night came on. The last train was starting, when the depot master went up and asked her if she was going out.

"Yes, sir," replied the lady.

"Hadn't you better go on board and secure a seat?" said the depot master.

"Thank you, sir," I'm very comfortable," replied the elderly dame.

The train left. The master came round again.

"Madam, I shall have to disturb you; it is late; the trains have all left, and we must close the depot. Shall I send you to a hotel?"

"Well!" exclaimed the old lady, dropping her knitting and holding up her hands "ain't the thing going to move? Here I brought my chair from home so as to have a seat, on which some pesky man couldn't squeeze himself. I've set here all day waitin' for the thing to go, and here I've had all my trouble for nothing. I thought it was a long time moving. I declare that these here railroads is the biggest nuisance and humbug as ever was!" and the old lady, with a bag on one arm and rocking chair on the other, gave a toss of her head and walked off in high indignation.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR:

JOHN W. GEARY,

OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

FOR JUDGE SUPREME COURT:

HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

Republican County Convention.

A Convention of the Union Republicans of Huntingdon county, will be held at the Court House in the borough of Huntingdon, on TUESDAY, AUGUST 10TH, 1869, at 1 o'clock, p. m.

This Convention will be composed of two delegates from each township, borough, ward and district.

The Republican votors of the county are requested to meet, at their respective places of holding elections (except the West Ward of the Borough of Huntingdon, who will hold their election at the store room of N. C. Decker lately occupied by Johnston & Watson,) on Saturday, the 7th day of August—in the townships, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock, p. m., and in the Boroughs between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to this Convention.

You are also requested to vote by ballot at the same time for or against the adoption of the Crawford County System; and instruct your delegates accordingly.

H. C. WEAVER,
Chairman County Committee.

☞It is a pretty cool joke this hot weather, to call Asa Packer the Poor Man's candidate.

☞Asa Packer has been "a life-long Democrat," and is thoroughly imbued with all the erroneous ideas of that party.

☞The Third Ward of Philadelphia, was Chairman of the Committee on permanent organization. Bill's a purty burd.

☞The Democrats objected to Grant because as they alleged he was not a statesman. What have they to say of Packer as a statesman?

☞Asa Packer has twenty million dollars. Would five times twenty millions save him from defeat on his past record as a member of the Democratic party?

☞Question for Democrats—Is Asa Packer one of the bloated bondholders we read so much about in the Democratic papers? If not, why? If so, are they U. S. or Confederate?

☞Why didn't some of the rascally Democratic pick-pockets rob Bill McMullin? Was it because they were opposed to robbing their master? Bill's one of 'em.

☞A letter from General Hancock was read in the Democratic Convention, declining to permit the use of his name as a candidate for the nomination for Governor.

☞A French Atlantic cable has been successfully laid. We have now a French cable and an English cable, and we should next hear of an American cable.

☞Have you any record or recollection of an act passed by a Democratic Legislature of any State designed or calculated to prevent Illegal Voting? If so, please specify.

☞The fight in the Democratic Convention was between New York interests and Pennsylvania interests, and New York won. The Lehigh Valley Railroad was too much for the Pennsylvania Central.

☞We shall expect to hear much from Democratic sources about Packer's liberality. Well, who couldn't afford to be liberal with twenty millions in his purse? If he would give us his money we would pull down and build up until the ancient borough would not know itself, and have a good road to the Warm Springs.

☞Mr. Cyrus L. Pershing, nominated for Supreme Court Judge on the ticket with Asa Packer is an average Cambria County lawyer. He served one or more sessions in the Legislature, but did not distinguish himself more than any other of our county lawyers would do in the same place. We think that the Democracy could have nominated an abler man, but as he was put up only to be knocked down, it makes little odds.

☞Many good and honest Democrats in Philadelphia express indignation at the ticket which has been put up for their support in that city, and they openly avow that if a change is not made they will bolt. Many good Republicans express the same dissatisfaction with the workings of the "ring" that is identified with their party. It is too bad that the politicians forget the interests of their party and use their influence to nominate bad men for office against the wishes of the honest men of their respective parties. But we feel confident that such a course cannot long exist. The people will find a way to be heard, and the sooner the "ring" acquiesces to their wishes the better.

☞The New York World (Democratic) is right in admitting that the Democratic Convention of this State which nominated Packer paid a compliment to the fifteenth amendment in passing the second resolution in their platform. It says the resolution "concedes a great deal to the friends of the amendment—more than is necessary, and more perhaps than is quite judicious." The resolution in question wants the proposed amendment repealed, and then commit it to the people at the polls for acceptance or rejection. In regard to the amendment the World further says:

"The Democracy of Pennsylvania have unnecessarily conceded that the fifteenth amendment is fairly before the States for their ratification or rejection, and that three-fourths of the whole number can make it a part of the Constitution. This may perhaps be true; but why should the Democratic party confess and declare it? It at least admits of question, and the friends of State rights should reserve the benefit of the doubt. Let them repeal legislative ratifications wherever they can; but avoid all gratuitous acknowledgments. If it be true, as the Pennsylvania platform concedes, that the proposition comes clothed with such authority that the States must act upon it, and that their unrepealed ratifications are binding, then, as soon as three-fourths of the States have ratified it, the fifteenth amendment is a part of the Constitution, and the question of negro suffrage is closed. The Pennsylvania Democracy have virtually bound themselves to take this view of the question, if, before they meet in convention again, the fifteenth amendment shall have been ratified by three-fourths of the States. This part of their platform might have been more skillfully constructed."

☞The Harrisburg Telegraph gives the following inside view of the manner in which Judge Packer obtained his nomination: "The fact that Packer had placed "one hundred thousand dollars" at the command of his friends, for the purpose of procuring the nomination, was openly proclaimed by the friends of General Cass, Hancock and McCandless, and not denied by those who had the financial affairs in charge. The uninstructed were boldly approached, and it is positively charged that some delegates of influence received as high as five thousand dollars for their vote and influence. Sixty-seven votes were needed to make the nomination, and these financiers understood their business so well that they procured just that number without fail on second ballot. They were determined that no more should be spent than was actually necessary, as they did their work by the job."

☞Reports from New Orleans of frauds in the Government service have become chronic. Frauds in the Custom House, frauds in the Sub Treasury, frauds among the importers, frauds among the wine dealers, frauds among the distillers, frauds among the Internal Revenue Collectors, frauds in the cotton tax, have been again and again announced until the public are quite ready to believe that the honest collection of any dues to the Government has been, in the main, the exception rather that the rule in New Orleans. We have to-day the announcement, quite in keeping with all the rest, that the frauds in the Income returns have been found so flagrant as to compel the taking of an entirely new assessment. These New Orleans reports are bad; but after all, are we quite sure that the Income returns are any more honestly returned anywhere throughout the country than in New Orleans.

☞"The election of Asa Packer is a foregone conclusion," says a Democratic exchange, and such is the utterance of Democrats throughout the State. We know not why that party has so much assurance. Has its members forgotten its previous defeats? Has it no faith in the warnings of the people that no party which affiliated with traitors to our Government shall assume control of that Government after it has been preserved? The assurance of the Democratic party of a certain victory at the recurrence of each election is nothing but a piece of self-conceit or peacock vanity, and we would advise that party to look at its feet and remember upon what ground they have trod. The people will remember the misdeeds of that party within the past ten years, even if its leaders don't.

☞We don't like the idea of making a Governor out of one whose chief distinction is the ownership of Twenty Millions of Dollars. Mr. Packer is a citizen of respectable abilities and good character; yet there is no one acquainted with him who can honestly say that, if the not result of his past exertions had been $20,000 instead of $20,000,000, he would now be a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. He is nominated because of his great wealth, and with an expectation that he will devote a part of it to greasing the wheels of the Democratic machine.

CORRUPT LEGISLATION.—Until a majority of honest men, men able to resist the influences of corrupt men, can be elected to represent the people of Pennsylvania, honest legislation cannot be expected. It is no longer an honor to be sent to Harrisburg as a member of the Legislature, and never will be until the political gamblers and political thieves hanging around the Senate and House every winter are cleaned out.

☞Now is the time to subscribe for THE GLOBE.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic State Convention met in the Hall of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg on Wednesday morning last, and was called to order by Hon. Wm. A. Wallace, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

After reading the names of delegates Hon. William Hopkins, of Washington, was elected temporary Chairman.

Hon. Chas. R. Buckalew was elected permanent Chairman, and on taking the chair delivered a lengthy address.

The following is the platform which was unanimously adopted:

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Democracy of Pennsylvania, in convention met, do unanimously declare:

First. That the Federal Government is limited to the grants contained in the Federal Constitution; that the exercise of doubtful constitutional powers is dangerous to the stability of the Government and to the safety of the people; and the Democratic party will never consent that the State of Pennsylvania shall surrender her great right of local self-government.

Second. That the attempted ratification of the proposed fifteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution by the Radical members of the last Legislature, and their refusal to submit the same to a vote of the people, was a deliberate breach of their official duty, and an outrage upon every citizen of the State; and the resolution making such ratification should be promptly repealed, and the amendment submitted to the people, at the polls, for acceptance or rejection.

Third. That the Democratic party of Pennsylvania is opposed to conferring upon the negro the right to vote, and we do emphatically deny that there is any right or power in Congress or elsewhere to impose negro suffrage upon the people of this State in opposition to their will.

Fourth. That reform in the administration of the Federal and State governments in the management of their financial affairs is imperatively demanded.

Fifth. That the movements now being made for the amelioration of the laboring man have our most cordial co-operation.

Sixth. That the legislation of the late Republican Congress outside of the Constitution; the disregard of the majority therein of the will of the people and the sanctity of the ballot-box, the exclusion from their seats of Representatives clearly elected; the establishment of military government in States in the Union, and the overthrow of all civil government therein, are acts of tyranny and usurpation that tend directly to the destruction of all republican government, and the creation of the worst forms of despotism.

Seventh. That our soldiers and sailors who carried the flag of our country to victory must be gratefully remembered, and all guarantees given in their favor most faithfully carried into execution.

Eighth. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad; the assertion of American nationality, which shall command the respect of foreign Powers, and furnish an example of encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty, and individual rights.

Ninth. That the present internal revenue and taxing system of the General Government is grossly unjust, and means ought to be at once adopted to cause a modification thereof.

Nominations were then received for Governor. On the first ballot Asa Packer received 59 votes, George W. Cass 48, W. S. Hancock 21, and Wm. McCandless 5. The second ballot resulted as follows: Packer 68, Cass 47, Hancock 19.

Cyrus L. Pershing, of Johnstown, was put in nomination for Supreme Judge.

☞When A. T. Stewart was appointed Secretary of the Treasury, he was confronted by an old law which forbid any importer from acting in that capacity, and the wisdom of the enactment was generally acknowledged.—Does not the principle which disqualified him disqualify Asa Packer from sitting in solemn judgment upon the railway legislation of Pennsylvania? Can he be expected to act fairly, disinterestedly, and justly on the railway enactments which form a large and, in some respects, the most important, portion of legislation, when his own individual interests hang trembling in the balance, and when his veto or his signature to a proposed bill may make him richer by putting a million of dollars more into his private purse? This possibility is by no means remote, and Asa Packer could scarcely serve thro' a three years' term as Governor without having the responsibility repeatedly thrust upon him of deciding whether he should prefer the promotion of his individual interests or those of his railway rivals.

☞Asa Packer, a smart Connecticut boy of old-fashioned Yankee stock, left his native State when 17 years old, with some $10 in money and clothing of about equal value, and brought up in Susquehanna county, this State, where he apprenticed himself to learn the trade of carpenter and joiner, which he followed for some years thereafter; marrying in due season, and buying a tract of wild land, which he proceeded to clear and till. At length he pulled up stakes and struck for Mauch Chunk, the heart of the Lehigh Coal Region, whence he ran a coal-boat to Philadelphia, then started a store, and soon engaged extensively in buying coal lands, building railroads, &c., &c., whereby he grew rapidly and enormously rich. He is now worth at least Twenty Millions.

☞The Johnstown Tribune, published at the home of Cyrus L. Pershing, the Democratic nominee for Supreme Judge, says of him:

The nominee for Supreme Judge, the Hon. Cyrus L. Pershing, is our neighbor and friend, and we take pleasure in saying of him that he is a Christian gentleman. But he has been an active Democrat all his days, and during the late war acted zealously with his party in opposition to the Administration of Abraham Lincoln. He has never been on the bench of a County Court, and is consequently entirely wanting in judicial experience. His public reputation is based upon his political services to his party and not at all upon his legal attainments.

☞Gen. Wm. S. Hancock in declining to permit the use of his name as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania says:

"Where I in civil life, no distinction would be more agreeable to me than to be Governor of Pennsylvania. I have, however, followed the profession of arms since boyhood, and now that I have acquired considerable rank, do not wish to abandon it and enter upon a life for which I am much less prepared by experience or education."

Terrible Railroad Disaster.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 15.—A frightful disaster occurred on the Erie Railroad about midnight at Mast Hope, on the Delaware Division. The night express train from New York which left there at 6:30 o'clock, made the usual time going west until 12 M., when the disaster occurred at Mast Hope. It would overhaul a freight train, also going west, which, according to telegraphic instruction, should have run on a siding, to permit the express to pass without stoppage.

The freight train switched off in the regular manner, but from some carelessness or, fatality, did not move far enough up the siding to entirely clear the track, and the tail of the train consisting of one or two cars, remained on the track when the express came thundering along. The train struck the tail of the freight, and the engine and baggage cars, express car, smoking car, one passenger car, and a sleeping car were thrown off the track and smashed out of all shape. The accident occurred about thirty miles from Carr's Rock.

The splintered cars and fragments of timber came in contact with the scattered fire from the locomotive, and a conflagration ensued, in which timbers, baggage, and the wounded passengers all went to feed the flames. Seven cars were thus destroyed, and six passengers are known to have been burned to death. Two of the passengers are from New York, and one of them is supposed to be the Rev. Benjamin B. Halleck, pastor of a New York church, who lives in East Fourteenth street.

NEW YORK, July 16.—There are a few additional particulars of the Erie Railroad accident. Mr. Gibson, a passenger, says of the burning of the smoking car that in it, wedged in his seat by the heap of broken timber, sat Rev. Mr. Halleck, of New York city, perfectly unhurt, but unable to extricate himself from the wreck. In calm accents and perfectly collected tones, he told us to get an axe to try to cut an opening in the side of the car. We searched around and obtained one from a house by the roadside, but it was so blunt that we could do nothing with it. We worked and strove to liberate the unfortunate gentleman, who sat there sound in limb, watching the approach of the hungry flames.—Nearer and nearer they came, until his hair began to crisp and burn and his skin to crack. Then when we in like manner found the heat unbearable, we reluctantly retired, compelled to leave this poor gentleman, with his eight fellow-sufferers, to their terrible fate. We moved off until all was over.—Nine persons were thus burned to death, and nine others injured more or less severely."

Another passenger says: I heard the little children screaming for their mothers, and the passengers who were in the ruins calling for help and groaning with pain. An axe was got and one or two were actually chopped out of their imprisonment. Most of the passengers in this car were killed and their bodies consumed or injured. I should think there were sixteen or seventeen persons in the front end of this car, and I think but two were taken out. I do not think there was a person killed by the smash, but all the deaths were from burning."

ASSEMBLY.

The friends of JOHN N. SWOOPE, of Porter township, announce him as a candidate for Assembly, subject to the approval of the Union Republican County Convention. June30, '69.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Huntingdon county, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention. If elected, I will discharge the duties of the office with fidelity and to the best of my ability. I was born in Huntingdon county, and the first vote I ever polled was for William Henry Harrison, in 1840. In August 1862, when all was gloomy and dark and our country and union in danger, I volunteered my services in Co. I. 125th Regiment, not for large bounty or big pay, but for the good of my country. On the 17th September, 1862, while engaged, was wounded in the arm, rendering it almost useless.

BAUGH'S
RAW BONE
SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TRADE MARK

STANDARD WARRANTED.

We offer to Farmers, the present fall season, BAUGH'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME as being highly improved.

Baugh's Raw Bone Super Phosphate is, as its name indicates, prepared by dissolving Raw Bones in Oil of Vitriol—that is, bones that have not been deprived of their organic matter—the grease and glue—by burning or baking. It, therefore, presents to the use of the farmer all the valuable properties of Raw Bones in a highly concentrated form—rendering it at once quick in action and very permanent.

Farmers are recommended to purchase of the dealer located in their neighborhood. In sections where no dealer is yet established, the PHOSPHATE may be procured directly from the undersigned.

A family of trained rats and mice performed here last week.

The dwellings in Johnstown are being numbered.

Miss Dorothy Flesher, of Somerset county, was killed by lightning recently.

All the money in the Lutheran Sunday School boxes in Sunbury was recently stolen.

Militia companies are being organized in different parts of the State.

Town lots still for sale in West Huntingdon. See advertisement of R. A. Miller.

Johnstown has a lady M. D. Huntingdon has several of the same sex, who practice on corns and sich.

Some of our German citizens attended the Saengerfest at Baltimore last week. They say it was a grand affair.

J. Irvine Steel, formerly editor of the Monitor, of this place, is now an aspirant for the Legislature from Schuylkill county.

The thermometer rose up to ninety-seven degrees one day last week. It (the weather) wasn't at all hot, of course.

We were visited by a small tornado on Friday afternoon last. It blew out one side of the Broad Top warehouse.

Young ladies, our fashion gossip says, are to wear "square bodies." Will they prevent the beaux from coming round?

Coal oil will cure a bee sting. Coal oil as a curing property is hard to beat, if it does all that is claimed for it.

We think from the way crops are growing that there will be some big things to be seen at our next County Fair.

A young hurricane visited the vicinity of Petersburg on Friday last. We have not learned the extent of the damage, if any.

An exchange says the census embraces 17,000,000 women. Who would not be a census?

Our former townsman, A. J. Riley, Esq., was dubbed an A. M., at the recent commencement of Pennsylvania College. He is really deserving of the honor conferred.

Cambria county of late has been prolific of Democratic candidates for State and National honors, but they have all failed to win. So much for Pershing.

A little son of Mr. George Swine, of Germany valley, this county, died on the 8th inst., of cholera morbus, brought on by eating too many cherries.

A slight fire broke out in the roof of Mrs. Pope's dwelling near the gas-house, on Thursday last. The fire was communicated by a spark from a passing engine.

The editor of the Mt. Union News says he saw a head of wheat last week with sixty grains in it. We would like to know the condition of his head when he saw that head of wheat.

John Wagner, an employee in a paper mill at McVeytown, recently got his arm squeezed between the calendar roll and drying cylinder. A week afterward mortification took place, from which he died.

The following changes in post-offices in this county, have been made: Colerain Forge—D. M. Thompson, vice J. C. Stevenson, resigned; Shade Valley—Samuel Parsons, vice E. D. Kessner, resigned.

Business cards neatly and expeditiously printed at this office on envelopes, cards, tags, note or letter paper. No business firm should be without them. They are the spiders which always catch flies.

A lady asked her gardener why the weeds always outgrew and covered the flowers.—"Madam," answered he, "the soil is mother to the weeds, but only step-mother to the flowers."

An editor of an exchange says: "We had a dream the other night, when all around was still; we dreamed we saw a host of folks pay up their printer's bill." Imagine his feelings the next morning when the bills remained the same.

Col. E. C. Summers, proprietor of the Castilian Garden, has our thanks for a large bowl of ice cream. It looked good, and if anybody wants to know how it tasted we would advise them to call at the Garden and try some of the same kind.

She tripped along with ribbons flying, from a brand new hat she'd just been buying. She held her head up very high, and thought, "Well, ain't I just some pie!" An orange peel lay in the track, she tripped and flat upon her back, lay Miss Maria Slimkins.

The publisher of the Newport News started out to collect money due him by his subscribers, and succeeded admirably in finding out how much he didn't collect. He still believes in the integrity of the people. Delusive hope, we fear.

At the annual commencement of Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg on the 30th of June, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. B. B. Hamlin, Presiding Elder of the M. E. Church, of Huntingdon, and Rev. O. O. McClean, of the Presbyterian Church, of Lewistown.

No estimate has been made of the amount of money lost by Huntingdon county farmers who failed to sell their grain last year, but in all probability it is great. We hope those farmers have learned wisdom, and will not be so foolish in the future as to wait for a bigger price. Sell as soon as you can.

Ex-Senator Bucknlew, President of the Democratic Convention at Harrisburg, had his pocket picked of $200 by some light-fingered Democrat while in attendance. Judge Mercer, M. C. from the Bradford district, was also relieved of $400 by a Democrat, at the same Convention.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. J. A. Stewart, is to conduct a Teachers' Normal Class on the Institute plan at Petersburg, this county.—Mr. S. comes highly recommended as an efficient teacher, and one worthy a liberal patronage. He will be assisted by Supt. Tussey.

We would advise our neighbor of the Monitor to critisise his own productions before he plays critic on another's. Any man who spells "Daddy" with only one d, should have never been born, and he who spells cornice "cornis" should never have a roof to shelter him. Critic, d'ye want any more?

Some weeks ago a man went round our town and received subscriptions for a soldiers' paper, called the Long Roll, for which he said he was agent. A number of unsuspecting ones gave him the money in advance, but since then nothing has been heard of their money or the paper, either. Take the Globe, gentlemen, and you are sure of the worth of your money.

An exchange, in a fit of disgust caused by contemplating the paucity of its "new adds," gets off the following pithy and pungent pronunciamento: "Any business firm that has not got enough sand in its craw to expend a few dollars to make its business known to two or three thousand people, ought to pack up and go to peddling peanuts."

The Philipsburg, Journal of last week devotes nearly two columns to a fatal stabbing affray that occurred in a billiard saloon in that place on Saturday, the 10th inst. The panties were Levi Ennis and Eugene Johnson, the latter stabbing the former in the bowels, from which he died in twelve hours. The murder arose from a dispute about a fifty cent note. Ennis' remains were taken to his home in Bradford county. Johnson was arrested and taken to the Bellefonte jail.

The annual vacation of the Cassville Soldiers' Orphan School will commence on the 23d of July. The annual examination of the School will take place on Thursday, the 22d. Col. G. F. McFarland, State Superintendent, Hon. W. Worthington, Senator from Chester county, Hon. H. O. Hickok of Harrisburg, and other educators, will be on the board of examination. The friends of the institution are invited to attend, and will be entertained by the Principal.

The New Yorker asks: "What spectacle can be more inspiring than a noble American youth, with his hair parted in the middle, fore and aft, his slender shanks snugly encased in pants so tight that he has to invoke the aid of a sausage-stuffer in putting them on—his breath laden with the innocent odor of Trix—in a pair of boots four sizes too long and square at the toe as a bull-pup's nose—and supporting on his conspicuous cuffs a 'nobby' pair of sleeve-buttons as large as a door-knob! Excruciating, youths! be nothing unless you are 'nobby.'"

Terrible Storm. Two Men Killed.

On Wednesday afternoon last one of the most terrific thunder storms visited our town that has ever been known here. The storm came up about four o'clock, and was attended by lightning which played sad havoc in our borough and neighborhood. As soon as the rain came on, a number of workmen employed on the railroad at the upper coal wharf took shelter under the shoots. Two of them named Barney Farrell and Cornelius Daey were together under one of the shoots, when the lightning struck a telegraph pole a short distance from them, which it is thought stunned them, and precipitated them forwards into the canal, from which they were taken lifeless. Three other men under the other shoot were also stunned but recovered in a few minutes. The deceased were interred in the Catholic cemetery at this place.

The lightning did some other damage in town. Mr. Abram Port's stable in West Huntingdon was knocked down and injured a pig therein.

'Squire Swoope's smoke house in the old borough was struck, but very little damage, further than knocking down some plaster, was done. His daughter was in the smoke house only five minutes before.

Mrs. Elway, a daughter of 'Squire Greenland, was stunned and rendered insensible by a stroke of lightning which struck the lightning rod. She recovered.

☞The Chicago Tribune Co. sends us a picture and description of their new and elegant marble building. It is truly a gigantic affair, far too great in its magnitude and proportions for the very finite mind of a poor country printer to contemplate. We do hope that if any other printers get so lofty, they won't tantalize us, "devil" and all, by sending a picture of their home. We have as much as we can do to manage the sweet proportions of an "eight by ten," without being led into temptation by coveting somebody else's fine structure. If the Chicago Tribune Co. wants us to build a big house, why, they can just send us a day's earnings—that's all.

Circus Coming.

The International Hippocomique and New York Circus will exhibit at Huntingdon on Saturday, the 31st of July. This circus, the first of the season, will no doubt attract a large number of people, if the weather is favorable. The two clowns, Hiram Day and Sam Lathrop are celebrated for their wit and comicalities, and we are promised a rare treat in the way of good riding and acrobatic performances. The circus will show in Alexandria on the 30th. See advertisement.

Robbery.

On Wednesday night last a robber entered the residence of Mr. J. Port in Portstown, and stole a watch and a few articles of clothing belonging to his son. The thief entered the dwelling through a back door, which it so happened was not locked, and going into the kitchen he took a lunch, and afterwards entered the sitting room where he found that which he stole.

Accident.

Elizabeth Porter, aged 18 years, daughter of John Porter, in Cass twp., this county, was badly burned in the face, arms, and other parts of her body, on Saturday, the 11th inst., by the explosion of a coal oil can while in the act of pouring the oil on a wood fire to make it burn better. This should be a warning to all.

Camp Meetings.

The dates of the commencement of the various Camp Meetings to be held this season in Juniata District, Central Penna. Conference, are as follows:

Saxton, August 6; Newton Hamilton, August 12; Schellsburg, August 12; Manor Hill, August 20; Rays Hill, August 20; Cassville, August 23.

Two Men Burned by Molten Iron.

The Lewistown (Pa.) True Democrat says:—On Wednesday of last week, soon after the one o'clock whistle blew for the men to commence work at Freedom Iron and Steel Works, the whistle blew an alarm. On reaching the cupola room it was found that the bar upon which rested the supports of the bottom of the cupola which was in use, and which at the time contained five tons of molten iron nearly ready to run out, had broken, and that Jas. A. Junkin, furnace builder, and George Bearly, his helper, both of this place, who were engaged in making repairs under the cupola, had been caught in the plunging mass of molten iron and cinder and terribly burned. Mr. Junkin ran out of the cupola room, followed by Mr. Bearly, their clothes in flames.

Some men at work in the rear of the engine house first saw them, and did all they could to smother the flames and relieve them of their burning clothes. Physicians were sent for at once, and in the meantime everything was done that was possible to alleviate the sufferings of the injured men. They were removed to their homes during the afternoon, and Mr. Bearly the surface of whose body was burnt to a crisp, almost, from head to foot, died the same evening. Mr. Junkin, whose injuries were chiefly confined to his legs, from the hips down, lingered until Monday, when death ended his sufferings. Mr. Junkin was aged about forty-two years, and leaves a family. Mr. Bearly was a son of Daniel Bearly, aged twenty-six, and unmarried. Mr. Junkin had taken out a life insurance policy for $1000 only in February last.

The cupola bottom was secured in the manner in general use, and it was considered perfectly secure by those in charge of the cupola, who are careful and experienced men, and had examined the supports during the morning. No possible blame, therefore, can be attached either to the workmen or the company. As evidence of the general prudence and carefulness which characterize the management at Freedom, it is worthy of mention that this is the first serious accident which ever occurred at these works.

A CARD.

MESSRS. EDS.:—We desire to say a word to the people of Huntingdon county generally, and especially to those who shall represent her various districts in the coming Republican Convention, concerning the career and abilities of Mr. F. S. FOUSE, who we understand proposes to submit his name to the decision of the above-mentioned Convention as a candidate for the office of Prothonotary.—We do this because Mr. Fouse, being a young man, we fear he is not sufficiently known to the public to secure a just consideration of his claims. Though we are not in sympathy with the somewhat hackneyed system of seeking the merit of men in the amount of military service they have rendered the country, or the personal sacrifices they may have made in her defence, yet we deem it but consistent to stick to the text so fervently favored at the close of the war:—that other things being equal, soldiers should have the preference in the selection of persons to fill offices of trust and profit.

Mr. F. was a soldier, and we speak knowingly when we say he was a good soldier.—He entered the army in the spring of '61, and after three years of honorable service, during which he was severely wounded, he returned home to spend, however, only a very short time, for feeling that his country still needed him, he re-enlisted and faced not northward again until the cause for which he fought had triumphed.

Possessed of a liberal education and fine business qualifications Mr. Fouse is admirably fitted to discharge the duties pertaining to the office he asks, with credit to himself and benefit to the county. Being active and energetic, we feel satisfied that his nomination would strengthen the ticket and promote the best interests of the Republican cause in Huntingdon county. Thus highly recommended by his services and qualities we trust that the coming Convention will favorably consider the name of the candidate from [1t] PENN TOWNSHIP.

☞The following piece of poetry was written in our office by a middle-aged man, who came requesting something to eat. He said at one time he was an editor of a New York literary journal but he was now traveling, like the majority of poor printers, strapped and weary, to Pittsburgh. His poetry suggests a history, and we saw in him the marks of former ability that had achieved for him a high position, but on his countenance was stamped the impress of the tell-tale, strong drink, that had mastered him and rendered him unfit to discharge the common duties of life and crippled his energies before they had enabled him to fulfill a high and noble destiny. How true is his subject! How little we know of each other, and yet how much could be told and learned, could each have the courage to tell it.

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW OF EACH OTHER.

BY GEORGE H. THROOP.

How little we know of each other!
How ready we are to condemn!
And lazily float with the current
When could we but know one another—
The trials of frail ones who fall—
Our judgment were tempered with mercy
And tender compassion for all.

How little we know of each other;
How dim in prosperity's ray,
The trials and struggles that cower,
Like guilt, from the eye of the day.
The pangs of the homeless, the homeliest,—
The friendless, on Poverty's road;
The burthens so silently shouldered,
And visible only—to God!

Death of Wm. C. McCormick.

We are sorry to announce the death of William Connelly McCormick, one of our most extensively acquainted and respected citizens, which event occurred on the 3d of July. He was born in Barree township, Huntingdon county, on the 21st of October, 1805. Early in life he was in the employ of Lyon, Shorb & Co., at Penna Furnace, Centre county. Afterwards he engaged in the mercantile business in Pittsburg and Hollidaysburg. He was the Commonwealth collector of tolls for the Canal and Portage Railroad for a number of years, and when Blair county was stricken off from Huntingdon he was appointed first Prothonotary for Blair county. After this he was employed at other furnaces as manager. When the P. R. R. offices were opened at this place he was appointed to a position in the Motive Power Department, which he held until his death.

As a christian man he was universally respected for his upright, consistent life. As a friend he was true. As a member of society he was ever ready to do his part for the good of the city or any of its inhabitants.—Altoona Tribune.

Something for the Accommodation of the Public.

The citizens of Shirley, Cromwell, Clay, Springfield and adjacent Townships have for some time felt the need of a public conveyance that would leave Mount Union for Shirleysburg and Orbisonia, after the arrival of the 5 o'clock trains on the P. R. R. Persons wishing to go to Huntingdon and return the same day can now do so by taking "Burkets" line, which leaves Orbisonia at 7½ o'clock in the morning, arriving at Mount Union in time for the 12 o'clock M. Emigrant train, going Westward, return from Huntingdon in the evening train, take the Hack and arrive back at Orbisonia the same day. This is just what the people needed and for their accommodation James S. Burket has fitted out a line of coaches to run daily [Sunday excepted] from Orbisonia to Mount Union and return.

"Jim" is an extra backsman, a clever fellow, has a good outfit and will be patronized by the traveling public.

"ARKINSAW TRAVELER."

N. B.—Be sure you ask for Burket's line. July 21, 1t.

☞And he did many wonderful works, insomuch that his name was pronounced in many tongues. And there came unto him, Judith, from the seaport of New Bedford, who had been sick for many years: and after some days her pains were gone. She slept soundly, and did rejoice in eating her food. And Asa, from those which are called Quakers, in the great city of Philadelphia, wrote an epistle saying: O, Doctor! accept thou this money, which is called greenbacks, and hath the picture of Abraham, thy friend, on one end. For verily I was weak, exhausted and despondent; I ate but little, and suffered many pains, and the Plantation Bitters gave me health, likened only unto the vigor of youth. And upon such as are afflicted with liver complaint, with sour stomach, with general debility and dyspeptic pains, in all parts of the land did these Bitters produce astonishing cures.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. 1f

Ladies Dresses and Boys Clothing.

MRS. B. ANNIE MCCABE and MISS MARY REEVES respectfully inform the public that they have removed to the house formerly occupied by H. McManigill, on Washington street, and are prepared to make Ladies' Dresses and Boys' Clothing of all kinds. They respectfully solicit a full share of patronage. apr7-1f

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In a former communication I referred to the practice of hoarding wealth as one of the great drawbacks to the progress of a town. I suppose there are none who will differ with me. If they do, I would just ask, what increases the prosperity of a town if it is not the judicious outlay of capital in different kinds of pursuit? Hoarded wealth never did and never will advance the interests of anybody, not even of the man who hoards. It takes capital to drive the great engine of progress, and the man who has the money lying idle is retarding the wheels, and doing an injury to himself and others. It is silly as well as injurious to mankind in general to hoard wealth. Suppose a man could lay up a stock of clothes and provisions sufficient to last him for three hundred years, what would it avail him, since he can live at most but from seventy to one hundred years? Suppose he had laid up in a storehouse seventy thousand pairs of shoes, to what end would it serve, if he could make use during whole life, of only the one hundredth part of them? He would be in the same condition as a man who had a hundred dishes placed before him at dinner, but who could only partake of one; or of a person who had a hundred mansions purchased for his residence, but who could occupy only one. How ridiculous it would appear if all that could be said of a man while he lived was simply this—that his whole life was occupied in collecting and laying up in a storehouse sixty thousand mahogany chairs which were never intended to be used for the furniture of apartments, or eighty thousand pairs of trowsers which were never to be worn? And where is the difference in point of rationality and utility, between such absurd practices, and hoarding thousands of guineas and bank notes which are never brought forth for the benefit of mankind. There is no conduct connected with the pursuits of human beings that appears more absurd and wicked practices (however common) if examined by the dictates of reason and the word of God.

IMPROVEMENT.

☞Go to Red Front for Sugar, Table Syrup, Cheese, Hams, Dried Beef, Sides, Spices, Teas, Coffee, Pure Cider Vinegar, etc., etc.

A $25 CHAMBER SETT

AND

FOUR 50 lb SACKS OF FLOUR.

Vote Early, Vote Late, Vote Often.

You don't have to pay for a vote at Enterprise Headquarters. You get the worth of your money in what you purchase. Enterprise Headquarters stands the expense of the presents—we only want the people to name by their votes who are to receive them. The Clergyman (or Clergyman's family,) receiving the highest number of votes will receive the $25 Chamber Sett—the four families receiving the highest number of votes will receive the four sacks of flour. The contest will not be confined to Huntingdon borough—every Clergyman (or Clergyman's family) in the county can be voted for. The voting of flour will also be to any family in the county.

FOR EVERY 25 CENTS WORTH PURCHASED YOU HAVE A VOTE.

The Chamber Sett of fourteen pieces is now on exhibition at Red Front—call and see it.

We want an interesting time and guarantee a fair election. The votes will be counted on the first of August.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

In the Village of Mill Creek.

[ESTATE OF DR. W. H. KERR, DECEASED.]

By virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Huntingdon county, there will be exposed to public sale, on the premises, in the village of Mill Creek,

On Saturday, July 31st, 1869, at 2 o'clock, p. m., the following described real estate, to wit:

TWO ADJOINING LOTS OF GROUND,

Situated in the village of Mill Creek, county of Huntingdon, Pa., each lot fronting about 60 feet on the turnpike leading from Huntingdon to Lewistown, and extending back at right angles about 154 feet to

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

FORGOT TO LOOK UP.—I have somewhere seen the story of a man who went one evening to steal corn from his neighbor's field. He took his little son with him to sit on the fence and keep a lookout and give warning in case any one should come along. The man jumped over the fence with a large bag on his arm; and before commencing to take the corn he looked all around, and not seeing any one, he was just about to fill his bag. Then the little fellow, his son—a good little fellow he was, too—cried out:

"Father, there is one way you've not looked yet!"

The father was startled, and supposed some one was coming. He asked his son which way he meant.

"Why, said the little boy, "you forgot to look up!"

The father was conscience-stricken; he came back over the fence, took his little boy by the hand and hurried quietly home without the corn he had designed to take.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

In what a wondrous age we live,
Not many seem to know;
But few the mighty change perceive,
Since fifty years ago;
Our ancestors did never dream,
When things moved very slow,
Of what we're doing now by steam—
Say fifty years ago.
Gentlemen's and Boys' Boots and Shoes then
Were made with little show,
But LEWIS RIGHTER makes the "styles"
At prices very low. my13-6m

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured; and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR.

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. The article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headach'.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them.
